A First Day for Freshmen

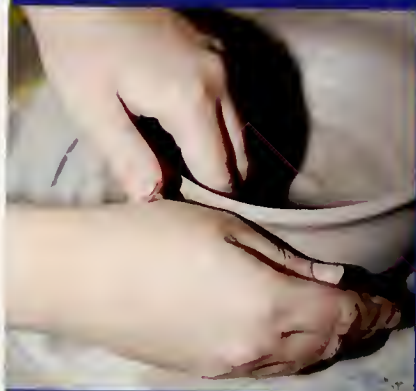

Clockwise from the top: Trustees and dignitaries gather to celebrate the Founders Memorial; the W. Scott Merrill Memorial Press Box; the all-weather field of the Jud and Jo Ellen Ammons Football Center; high work on the Ferguson Math and Science Center; the Science Center rotunda; the memorial to Joe Anderson, now officially recognized as a founder.

BEYOND OUR HILL

> Through service work, class projects, and personal travel, Mars Hill students pursued their education in all corners of the world, beginning at their back door.

< A Challenges class taught science at the Middle School.

Bonner Scholars at Jubilee Partners

Jubilee Partners, a Christian service community located near Comer, in Madison County, Georgia, has hosted more than 2,500 international refugees since its establishment in 1979 including a number of "Lost Boys" from Sudan who later became Mars Hill College men. With their participation and leadership the Lifeworks Department at Mars Hill has enjoyed a fruitful exchange with Jubilee.

Ivory Tower?

Not Ivory Tower but LIBERAL ARTS IN ACTION! That's the slogan of our mountain campus, isn't it? And the best of the action came together in spring SLAM, April 9, when cutting edge projects from all disciplines went live on stage.

The richness of the arts on campus shown forth in the work exhibits of three senior art majors, not to forget, of course the pottery, photography, graphics and informal art the brightened the year.

Katharine Stadler's exhibit, "Shosholoza," was inspired by a trip to Africa last summer. Shosholoza is a Zulu word which means 'go forward or 'make way for the next man.' "My time in Cape Town and the surrounding areas transformed my life in ways that are hard for me to explain. My work expresses my feelings about what I experienced and depicts the animals that I came in contact with there."

Miley White incorporated her work in photography with her skills in graphic design and studio art to create a body of art that deals with the negative conceptions of beauty placed on women by the public. Of her exhibit entitled "Enough."

"The use of self-portraits and photographs under transferred images and words help to show how pressures are placed on every woman forcing them to deal with these false ideas of perfection."

Carlee Macon is entitled "[In]finite," and expresses the duality she feels as a Christian living in today's world. She says, "This duality also encompasses the things I deal with as a Christian trying to 'live in this world, but not be of this world.' There are perceptions and stigmas that I have to try to overcome, as well as struggles with real temptations."

The Refuge

Yours, O LORD, is the greatness and the power and the glory and the victory and the majesty, for all that is in the heavens and in the earth is Yours. Yours is the kingdom, O LORD, and You are exalted as head above all. 1 Chronicles 29:11

The Refuge is more than a group of college students gathering on Wednesday evenings to sip coffee and exchange highlights from the weekend. It is more than a few melodious songs and a feel-good talk. The Refuge is about rallying around the cross, declaring our allegiance to Christ, and hearing truth from God's Word about following Him with all we are. This year, Dirk Helmling, leader of and speaker at The Refuge, has been asking the question, "Why wouldn't I live my life for Christ after what He's done for me? We kept this question in mind as we studied through the book of Romans. The mission of The Refuge is to "challenge and equip students to be passionate followers of Jesus Christ."

"Each week, I feel as though it is accomplishing this goal. Unpacking Romans chapter by chapter has been not only enlightening, but life-changing," said Beth Hardin.

Another integral part of The Refuge are the Discipleship Groups that meet weekly to learn that though the cost is high, discipleship is most definitely close to the heart of God. "D-group provides us with a group to fellowship with and relate to while being fed Jesus' living word, because Matthew 18:20 tells us that where two or three (or ten) are gathered together in Jesus' name He is in the midst of them," said Lacey Davis.

"To me, The Refuge is all in the title. It is a safe place where I can fellowship with friends and where I can strengthen my relationship with God," said Brad Hughes.

Alpha Chi AX

Since 1922, the purpose of Alpha Chi has been to promote academic excellence and exemplary character among college and university students and to honor those who achieve such distinction. Some 300 chapters, located in almost every state and in Puerto Rico, induct more than 11,000 members annually.

North Carolina Epsilon Chapter 120 was installed at Mars Hill College in 1971. Each Alpha Chi chapter indicates the top 10% of the junior and senior classes by overall GPA. Membership in Alpha Chi is the highest academic honor a student at Mars Hill College can achieve.

Moving On

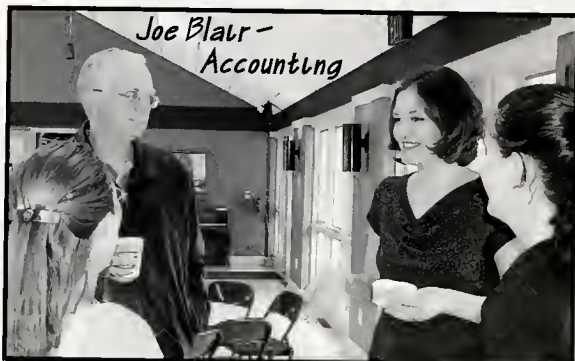

Faculty and staff who touched our lives, but now say goodbye to old Mars Hill

George Peery - Pol. Sci.

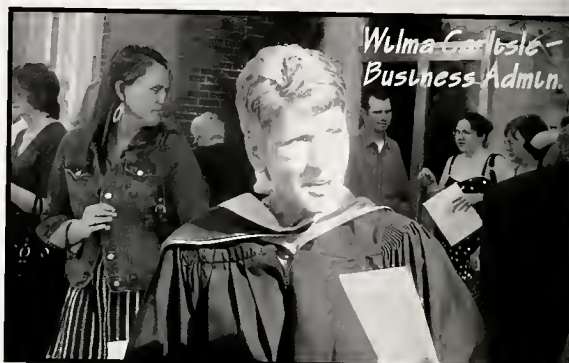

Changed many minds in 39 years but his own heart stayed wild.

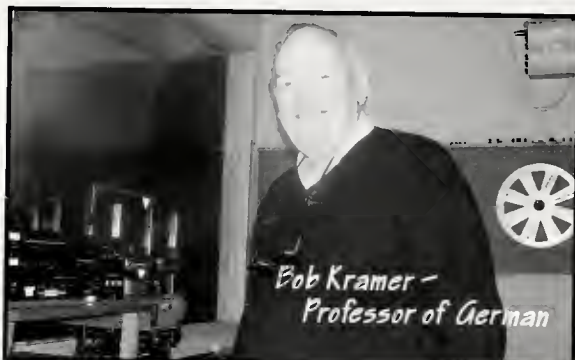

Joe Blair -
Accounting

A steady hand, true to God, true to his calling and there for students.

Wilma Carlisle -
Business Admin.

Taught style as well as knowledge and took care of work study.

Bob Kramer -
Professor of German

Teacher of German, film aficionado, brought culture to The Hill.

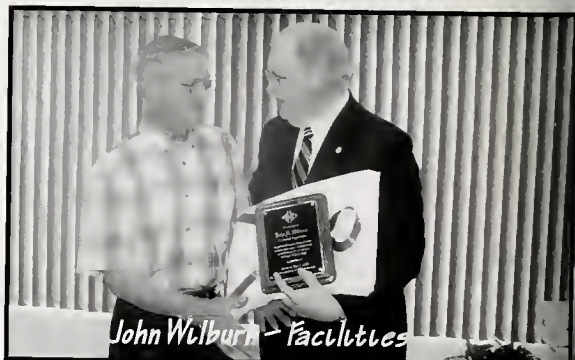

Sam & Janet Bingham
Journalists-in-Residence

Came early, stayed late, to make The Hilltop a news source to trust.

Linda
Laughrun -
Athletic Dept.
Secretary

Looked out for heads and hearts of athletes and coaches.

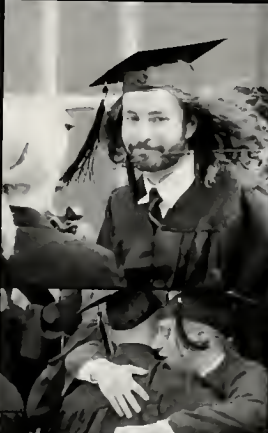

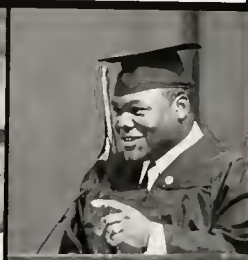

John Wilburn - Facilities

Spent the better part of his life working to make the place work.
